PLANT YOUR TUBEROUS-ROOTED GROWN NOW
Tuberous-rooted plants are beautiful, different plants with bellied or ruffled flowers of white, pink, salmon, yellow, orange or red. Tubers may be started any time from now to April, advise horticulturalists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Place the plants in flats containing a soil mixture of half peat or leaf mould and half sand. The crowns of the tubers should be exposed. Apply water sparingly until growth starts, and then water more freely.

When growth is ½ to 2 inches long place the tubers in 4 to 5 inch pots using a soil mixture of one part soil, one part peat or leaf mould and one-half part sand. Plant at the same depth as in the flats. Try to keep the plants growing slowly to prevent spindly growth. Ideal conditions are a temperature of 60° F., high humidity and moderate light. Direct sunlight can be injurious to the foliage.

Begin watering the plants in September. After the plants have flowered cut them half an inch above the soil level. Leave them in almost dry soil. Store in a cool place at 45° F. until the following February when they may be re-started.

Timely Tips
To perk up inexpensive cuts of meat, home economists at Macdonald Institute, Guelph, say to marinate them in a cup of French dressing for at least two hours.

To separate excess fat from meat drippings, the Food and Nutrition Department at Macdonald Institute, Guelph, suggest that you pour the drippings into a cup set in a pan of cold water. The fat will rise to the top of the can be skimmed off easily.

In Memoriam

BOULTON — In loving memory of a dear brother, Jack Bolton, who passed away Jan. 28, 1983. For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. Ever remembered by brother Herb Bolton. (4913)

SCRIVENS — In memory of a loving father and grandfather Ernest Francis who passed away one year ago March 9th, 1962. Always and lovingly yearned for and missed.

SCRIVENS — The shock that we received that day. No one can ever tell. We give you straight to meet it. And courage to bear the blow. But what it meant to lose him. No one will ever know. It's a lonely life without you. And sad has been the way. For life at home is not the same. Since you were called away. It was a sudden ending. To sudden to forget. For you one who loved you dearly. Are the ones who won't forget. Ever remembered and sadly missed by your daughters Edna and Florence, sons-in-law Bill and Stanley, and grand children. (4941)

SCRIVENS — The shock that we received that day. No one can ever tell. We give you straight to meet it. And courage to bear the blow. But what it meant to lose him. No one will ever know. It's a lonely life without you. And sad has been the way. For life at home is not the same. Since you were called away. It was a sudden ending. To sudden to forget. For you one who loved you dearly. Over 50 visitors and members, and many other interesting features. The highlight of the evening came when he agreed to take charge of the coin auction, and it was here that Mr. Charlton showed the experience and training background of a professional, as the "King of the coin world", was well received by those present as he was auctioned off, with a 1923 nickel selling under the experienced guidance of $35.50, a record price.

Liberal candidate S. C. (Cliff) Bennett says he was greatly impressed with his leader — Lester B. Pearson — when he met with him and heard him speak this week.

The candidate for this riding was among over 100 party supporters who went to Fenelon Falls Tuesday to hear the Liberal party meet with his followers. A capacity crowd was present at the Port Hope rally. Mr. Pearson declared, adding that one of the things which impressed him the most was the fact that Mr. Pearson made no slanderous remarks to opposing parties in the field or their leaders.

Wreathed in smiles

The faces of three leading Progressive Conservatives in the riding are wreathed in smiles up for the campaign. Left to right are: Hon. Leslie M. Frost, P.C., Lindsay; Clayton W. Hodgson of Haliburton and for the unforced reports. One of the latest to get into circulation at Lindsay has to do with Charles Lamb running on a W. Hodgson, retiring MP, is unofficially booked to take over on the Ontario Racing Commission if Mr. Lamb is elected to parliament. Mr. Lamb was given the racing commission appointment following the death of M. L. McLean, another party stalwart.

A local political observer says he thinks all parties are going to have a rough time of it in the current election campaign... if they travel any one of the following thoroughfares in Lindsay: Wellington St. between Cambridge and William; Lindsay St. south between the white bridge and Kent St.; Colborne St. east or west. He suggested that if they really seek smooth sailing, they might be best advised to park the car on one of the smooth by-pass roads and walk into town... The condition is the result of an austerity program in Ottawa which spilled over into Lindsay.

The present deplorable condition of many of the town's streets may be one reason motorists are putting off buying their 1983 license plates.

They aren't too sure of being able to operate the old car after about March 23 when the break-up really hits.

Burns conditions Muskies vets for NHL Oldtimers match

Although none of the London Muskies made the N.H.L. in their playing days, it looks like most of them will be playing against the N.H.L. (oldtimers) at the sports spectacular this Friday night. Coach Al Burns reports that he expects he will have seven of the charter members ready to leap over the boards for the big game. The mention of names like Wimpy Parker and Orie Crawford, Ray Combs, Stu Hicks, Bob Lewis and Lew Hennessey bring back fond memories of the early Lake Huron league clashes with teams from Bowmanville, Port Hope, Coburg, Lakeshore and Wrentham. It is hoped that good old Mucker "O'Connell" will be on hand as well. To back up the charter members are these charter members, Al has Keith Montgomery, Jack and Bob Williams, Bob Gore, Don Siedel, Jack Graham, John Horton, Ron Jewell, Jimmie Jenkins and Art Trux and possibly Junior West in mind.

Salvationist's car upsets on road

Salvation Army Capt. E. Leeds, one of the visiting officers to the Mid-Ontario Division Rally being held in Peniston, Pa., was the driver of a car that went out of control today near Peniston, Pa. Investigating OPP Const. J. Pluniers said the accident happened around 9:30 a.m. just south of Peniston Park on highway 121. The car went out of control on the slippery pavement, traveling a considerable distance before turning over and landing. There were no injuries, but damage to the car is estimated at about $600.

Lions Club carnival night welcomes March to Omeme

Omeme (PNS) — Some 85 boys and girls participated in the Lions Club Carnival here on Friday night before an enthusiastic audience of over 300 instructors Mrs. Joan Sherman assisted by Bill Kemp, a former Omeme boy, both of whom are professional skaters presented a varied program in which characters representing canaries, penguins, wolves, bears, etc. appeared.

A tug-of-war between 16 men on ice created much merriment as did the antics of down, Clarence Wright. Master of ceremonies was Arthur Williamson and in charge of music was Robert Goodin. A committee of ladies aiding in the costumes project were Mrs. Joyce, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Goddard, Mrs. Free, Mrs. McQuade, Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. P. W. Fisher, Mrs. R. Taylor, Mrs. Ron Pogus, Mrs. Ron Chamberlain.

Proceeds for the event will be used to further the work of the figure skating school.

Home League Rally discussed at meet

The meeting of the Salvation Army Home League met with Mrs. Capt. C. Bowes in the chair, was opened by singing of "The Great Physician is near". The scripture was read, respectively after which all the ladies joined in singing the theme song "I have wounded my soul today" and repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. L. Robertson read an article "The Whip of Hurry" which illustrated forcibly how the hurry and tension of life in the modern home leaves little room or time for Christian fellowship and family worship in the home. Following this each recited a favorite verse of Scripture.

Mrs. Emily Radford, president of the White Cross Club and an active member of the League, gave a very interesting and informative talk on crafts by the blind on the reading and writing of Braille, demonstrating how it is done.

The business of the Home League L.C.I., placed third in the

C of C grant request under council study

The Finance Committee will study the 1963 annual report of the Chamber of Commerce as submitted to council Monday. Decision will be made re the Chamber's request for a grant from the town, made by C. of C. Manager Harry McDonald, accompanied by F. C. Pugh in a deputation to council.

Manager McDonald did not ask for any specific amount but expressed the hope council would not let the chamber down in this matter. Last year he said the town had made a grant of $1,200. Hopes had been that both town and county would make a total contribution for chamber needs of $2,500. The county had contributed $1,000.

About $4,000 could be realized from membership fees, Mr. McDonald stated. With sundry revenue it would be necessary to receive this amount plus total grants of $2,500.

Mayor Holmes asked if PSI Insurance had cut down the returns from Chamber of Commerce group insurance. Mr. McDonald answered it had and a salary allowance (not his) was in the office and expenses of electric heaters purchased and chamber painting inside and out had also been made.

Senior council. The profit students are products of the school's Commerce and Finance Department in which Mr. R. E. (Bob) Sutton, principal, is assisted by six commercial teachers.

Pot Shots

By Fenwick Finch!

Spring must be on the way. Stepping out of the house this morning, I saw only 23 below zero — that's a sure sign. The crows have been around the bush for the past two weeks — I've gotten my annual harvest, saved the mulch and heard of it, so there's no doubt in my mind — Spring is well on the way.

Throughout our area the political pot is barely simmering — there doesn't seem to be enough interest to get into an argument with anyone. There are too many local problems — the jury trial ending is now in full force. A great majority of the homeowners are without water. They have realized the futility of trying to do anything about it — by the time they complain to someone and finally get off the merry-go-round the various department heads have put it off on them.

— Spring is here and the pipes thaw and everyone takes a new lease on life. Everything is forgotten until the following year, then, away they go again. The world seems to get smaller every year. It has been almost 30 years since I was in the Kitchener-Waterloo country. Those days were brought back to me the other night by Audrey and Victor Gingerich the new owners of the Canoe Restaurant in Fenelon Falls.

Driving through Fenelon Falls the other evening I was looking for a spot to have my usual grog. There wasn't a place open. There wasn't a little before eight o'clock but already the "shuttles" were in.

I drove out Highway 538 and there was the "oasis in the desert" the Canoe was lit and served a cup of coffee. As I drank my coffee, I learned that Audrey and "Vic" came from Waterloo and had been in this area for some time before they moved to Fenelon Falls.

"Vic" had been a Supt. with the Waterloo Public Utilities for some 15 years when he decided this life was no longer for him and he was going to get into the restaurant business. "Vic" had made me decide on places to business to buy.

burton County isn't booming — take another look — that's quite a piece of change.

I'm not a regular watcher of the news, but I have heard for it but I always use to watch one program without fail. The crime of this programme and star is that he is not available on enough channels and on a reasonable hour — although the hour doesn't matter that much — the programme is worth watching for and putting yourself out to see.

I'm referring to Hancock's Half Hour. To me Tony Hancock is a comedian without peer and there is nothing on TV today that comes anywhere close to him. Why he isn't on the network is beyond me — the CBC probably has the answer. When you sit and listen to some of the old audiotapes I can't think of the descriptive word to use here that the Editor would accept they serve you up as comedy and I include here Festival, Inquiry and other such crafty type of CBC dizzard's gabble that is almost enough to turn you away from watching which in their case, justifies the name of "ridiculous Box", it makes you wonder.

Hancock and his partner Sid James certainly put a better reception than they get from the networks. To me, this is the main reason for watching Barrie, Channel 3 on such a late hour on Sunday nights. They have shown a remarkable choice in what to watch and see.

Why not write in Hancock — you can reach Barrie who not get the credit for his words and write them and see if they can't include this programme — it's well worth the trouble. Up in arms — Hancock fans let's see if we can't make the networks in seeing what the viewers want.

Their best-kept flower gardens are something to see. Mr. Peet's "Golds" are something to behold. They have quite a clientele — when you go there — there is no rush to sell you their flowers then get on to the next customer — it is in the nature of a "visit" — time means nothing what a beautiful way to live.

During the summer and fall flower season the Peet's used up their little pick-up truck and take their flowers and money through the County. Honestly — I'm sure they get more enjoyment out of visiting with people — than they do with the actual sale of their flowers and honey.

In every group discussion there is always one person who is the "reliable Authority" — the one whose information is neither too good nor too bad for official publication at this time. During a discussion on touring production at the house the other night Mr. R. C. came up with the information.

In the past three years in Haliburton County there has been spent the sum of 2045.00 in dollars in labour and material."

To anyone who thinks Hal-

Diefenbaker let Canada down, business poll majority holds

Toronto, March 6 (UPI) — A survey of small business men shows that nearly two-thirds of those who replied to the question by ballot February 15, had let Canada down.

More than 160,000 members of the Canadian Small and Independent Business Federation were canvassed on the question by ballot February 15; nearly 18,000 replied. Thirty-three per cent of the replies returned favored the proposition that Diefenbaker has let Canada down. It is indicative and lacks the ability to give the leadership the nation needs at a time of crisis. Thirty-three per cent expressed what was described as the alternative view that Canadian led Diefenbaker down and were not prepared to make sacrifices his policies demanded. The remaining four per cent said: "There's not much more for this."

A few years back I was talking to a friend of mine about money matters.

"You know, Fenwick, I don't want to understand that I got my money by hard work." "What are you talking about, Fenwick?" "I thought it was left to me by a rich uncle." "It was," he replied, "but it was to work hard to get it away from the lawyer."

Last night a few of us were sitting around discussing various people we had known who were exceptionally strong. This brought the conversation around to grandfather, Reinhold S. Finch. I've run out of space so I'll have to save this for another time. Grandfather was quite a lad.

Until I see you again — remember this — "If you enjoy quarrelling, why not study law and get paid for it?"

I don't know whether I have said that before or not — if I have there it is again. See you. Fenwick.

You can kick it, but you can't knock it.

Peay on a visit and go a few rounds with a Volkswagen. You can kick it, shake it, lean the doors and bounce on the bumper. (If you hear a squeak, see your dealer.) Or, if you prefer, you can have a quiet chat with one of our salesmen. Either way you'll get the same information: The VW is built to take a beating. No rattles, no loose parts, no squeaks, no creaks. (No more new cars are as perfect, our factory applies 5,000 inspections.) But don't take our word for it. Take the VW for a ride and be your own inspector.

Try shutting the door with the window closed. It won't be easy because the Volkswagen is practically airtight. Try it again with the window open. You'll hear the solid sound of a car that's built to last. Look under the dashboard and under the door hinge. You'll find the same amount of paint as you can't see outside the doors. (We have to be ready for anything. Volkswageners are sold around the world and driven in every climate.) So our quest. Come in and kick it around.

Nestleton woman hurt at Bethany

Mrs. Evelyn Peterick, of Nestleton, and Mrs. T. Edwards of Peterborough, were rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital in Peterboro Sunday morning following a two-car accident involving driver Richard H. Johnson of Bethany and Carl Peterick, husband of the injured woman.

Investigating OPP Const. J. Schultz, of the Bowmanville detachment, told "The Post" the accident happened at Bethany on the main street about 12:35 a.m.

Mrs. Peterick, a passenger in her husband's car, suffered shock and minor abrasions, and Mrs. Edwards, who was a passenger with her husband in the Peterick car, suffered head injuries and a fractured right arm.

Damage to both vehicles was extensive.

A lawn fertilizer with high nitrogen content and four weed killers are new helpers for home gardeners. One weed killer attacks broadleaf weeds and is combined with the fertilizer to apply more easily. There's also a crabgrass preventer, a pre-emergent weed killer that can be fired from a standing position, and a pre-sprayed rose and flower spray that can be sprayed while the can is held upside down.

Paris designers have decried a slim silhouette and knee-length skirts for daytime wear. The Chambre Syndicale-the organization of Paris designers-had permitted only release of sketches when newswomen saw the collections in late January and early this month. The straight and narrow silhouette apparently will reign again this season, but there are a few hints to alter shoulders in suits and coats. There's also a trend toward midsize tops, tunics, and in colors, navy, white and off-white.

Italian housewives soon may be eligible for a pension plan. The Italian parliament currently is considering a bill under which a housewife would be eligible for a pension at age 65 if she starts now to pay a minimum of $1 cent in American currency each month to a pension program.

NOVEMBER LOVE COOLS AS WIFE AIDS WEIGHT

Dear Dr. Eisenberg: Know that many of your women readers will take offense at what I write here. I even doubt you will print this in your column. However, if they consider what I say open-mindedly, they'll realize that I am really on their side.

I am a man in my middle 50's, my wife is 31. Lately there has come a coolness between us. When I fell in love with her 30 years ago she was not a pretty girl, but had a trim figure and exceptionally good nature. She always prided herself on her figure and so did I. A sister 10 years older than she has a figure like a young girl's.

But for the past five years my wife has become actually sloppy in her appearance and has gained at least 25 pounds. She is irritable and difficult to live with. I try to make her feel bad by saying she should take off weight for health reasons, her mother had diabetes and there is a history of coronary disease in her family.

By Peter J. Steinhorn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

I can't come right out and tell her that her "look" makes it difficult for me to love her as much in November as I did in May. The fact is that I have become impatient as far as she is concerned; I have no desire to be near her. And must confess that I am "getting ideas" about having sexual satisfaction elsewhere. I am sure that this sexual problem in our house doesn't help matters.

With it all the continues to buy expensive dresses and suits, apparently blind to the fact that to matter how beautiful she spends, she is still fat and shapeless. Our friends and family call me married, and I like to have a happy home life. I am extra-sensitive or whatever you want, but I am still allergic to "fat" in my wife. And I'll wager many thousands of other men feel the same way, but haven't the gumption to come out with it. Neither have I. That's why I am signing this letter, Mr. S., hoping you have come up with the key which will unlock this problem.

Comment: If I had any sense

THINKS HER PROBLEM IS TOO MANY DOCTORS

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: I am in a dilemma and need some advice. I am 33 years old, the mother of three children. My medical problem which won't bother you with are hemorrhoids, but minor. Just my problem is too many doctors.

I have a wonderful GYN doctor whom I go to twice a year for routine examinations of female organs. Also I have a GP for my family doctor who also is very good. We all like and have confidence in him. Recently I had a complete physical exam, X-ray, electrocardiogram, etc. I told him I had been pretty bad and a complete exam. But he said he would like to check me, for comparison with his previous records. I agreed.

This is my problem. Where do I draw the line? One medical field seems to merge with the other. Shall I let the GP refer the specialist or the specialist refer the GP? I am not sure of the take care of his specialty, or proper directions. Many a patient I shall say nothing and content who runs to a heart specialist with heart? I feel like a child needs a stomach specialist, ping-pong ball. Do I make it? Many a man with a headache or an I cramp, mind ache needs an allergist rather up female? I have gotten a lot of common sense from your columns. Maybe you can straighten me out. Mrs. S.

Comment: It's not simple, it is not like calling a plumber for the bathroom or a carpenter to repair the roof. But there come times when even a plumber needs outside help or a carpenter needs to call in a roofer's specialist. In taking care of the "hallways" and "roofing" that go to make the human body. I think it is advisable to have a good general practitioner at the helm. See a gynecologist only if he has a heart specialist. If he needs consultation, a skin specialist if things have gotten out of hand. Otherwise there will be confusion and lack of proper direction in seeking diagnosis and cure.

The trouble is that frightened patients go running off if they are scared. Understandably they are scared. Unfortunately, they are being the training of the specialist or to knowledge to make the take care of his specialty, or proper directions. Many a patient I shall say nothing and content who runs to a heart specialist with heart? I feel like a child needs a stomach specialist, ping-pong ball. Do I make it? ## District family loses home to flames

On Monday (PNS) — Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the frame residence of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Larmer and their two children one-half mile north of Bethel Corner's east of Ottawa at 9:30 p.m. on Friday evening.

Mr. Larmer had been away for a short while and on return found his home ablaze. Ottawa firemen under Chief Charles Evans answered the call but efforts to save any part were fruitless.

About five years ago a house on the same property owned by Mr. Larmer's father-in-law, Mr. Philip Lindsay, was also destroyed.

Ironically, it so happened that when Mr. Larmer was unable to enter his home on telephone for help he tried to order the fire brigade from a neighbor's phone, but the fire had put the line out of order.

It is understood that the loss totals some $3,000.

Cafe curtains are a ready-made solution to the problem of brightening an old bathroom for a new baby. You'll need three pairs of cafe curtains — perhaps pink dotted swiss for a girl and yellow or blue satin for a boy. First, line the right side of a yard and a half of pointed cotton, tacking it to the sides. Attach bottom sections of the curtains to the bottom of the Bassinet. Ratchet, attach through the top of the curtains and attach to top. Trim bustinet with ribbon bows.

CHARGES WARSHIPS FIRED

The Soviet Government has charged that two American warships fired on a Soviet fishing vessel last March eighth some 70 miles east of Norfolk, Virginia. The charge was made in a note published in Moscow today.

FLOODS HIT FIVE STATES

Rampaging floods which hit five southern U.S. states have claimed at least 12 lives . . . possibly 15. Triggered by melting snow and heavy rains, the floods poured through narrow Appalachian valleys into Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, West Virginia and Virginia. Some 300,000 persons are homeless. Hundreds isolated three passenger trains in Tennessee and made many highways impassable. Kentucky was hardest hit. Officials have asked President Kennedy to proclaim the eastern part of the state a disaster area. Federal and Red Cross authorities are due there today to aid flood victims. Damages are severe. One six-county area in Virginia, alone, suffered an estimated five-million dollars in losses.

STARTED REMOVING TROOPS

The Communist newspaper Pravda told the Soviet people today that the Kremlin has started removing troops from Cuba. The dispatch said the list of four ships left Cuba on Sunday and another vessel is now in Havana loading more troops to bring home. Secretary of State Bank said last night it could lead to a serious situation if Soviet forces act against Cuban citizens. He also warned against Communist attempts to interfere with U.S. aerial reconnaissance of Cuba.

COMPLETES TASKS

U.S. Presidential Envoy Livingston Merchant completed talks with government leaders in London today. Diplomatic sources said Merchant received tentative British backing for the American-proposed polaris surface fleet. They say the approval comes despite Britain's preference for a fleet consisting entirely of submarines, as agreed upon in Nassau last December by President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan.

AT CONFERENCE

At the Geneva Disarmament Conference this morning, the United States offered to let the Russians keep nuclear test has inspectors out of any area containing sensitive defensive installations. The Soviet Union turned down the proposal . . . saying it is an attempt to involve the Russians in something they want no part of. The Soviet delegation also received the oft-repeated charge that the US is trying to stall the conference with technical details.

ESCAPE TO WESTERN SECTOR

West Berlin officials disclosed today that 13 East Germans died a 60-yard tunnel and escaped to the Western sector of the divided city last night. The refugees included a blind woman who was guided by her sister . . . and a 70-year-old grandmother who was hailed by a reporter. The East Germans spent two hours huddled at the western end of the tunnel just eight yards from Communist border police-alarmed to leave it until Western police arrived.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Melnik, Peterborough were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jennings.

Roy Jarvis has returned home from visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCarthy in Calgary, Alta.

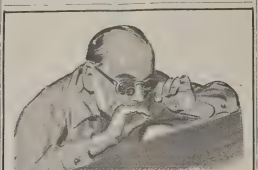

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McGill, Toronto, visited Mr. and Mrs. James McKinnon.

It was quite a party

It was quite a... birthday party that is... and a lot of people had a pleasant break from the routine of the day. The party was the one Mr. and Mrs. A.R. Glad and Mrs. Jeff Jetties held to celebrate the fifth birthday of their business - Lindsay Glass and Mirrors. The tures above record a couple of interesting highlights -

LEISURE LOOK

MARKET NEWS

Longwearing leeds a fashionable private life for spring. Women can spend their leisure hours in lounge dresses, robes and separates that are at home both in and out of the bedroom.

Natural or shift-shaped lounge dresses in knee to ankle lengths, cover home comfort in a flattering feminine manner.

The long look, which gained favor last fall and winter, continues for spring in light and airy fabrics, in styles for pale linens as well as for sleeping and lounging.

Pared-down lounge dresses are preferably printed, in formal abstract of "conventionalistic" motifs. Trend-dress types bloom out in colorful solids and glamorous prints.

Franks and jumper or "alt-cover-up" enable women to be fashionably easy upstairs, downstairs, all around the house for spring. Long tunics tops and brief bared midriffs accompany the park, which may be any style from slim and tapered to flared bell bottom. Lightly bloused harem styles are still another choice.

The shapeliness robe is a thing of the past. Today's fashionable robes copy coats, narrowing down to favorite spring shapes - silver slim or long, front-freezing at back.

Ready for relaxing, in number of casual losses, inspired by straight, mannish blouse jackets and reverses.

DEEP TONES STAND OUT

And spring's pale pastels and drabbing whites, deep colors have a special impact. Classic navy, lighter and brighter, becomes fashion news. Dark, autumnal browns make a spring appearance. Deep hues dressess flash under pale coats and dark blouses accompany light suits.

THEY RESIST RAIN

But Don't Show It

Simple, pared-down lines, luxury fabrics and styling are both rain and shine highlight new rainwear.

The smartest "raincoats" look like any spring, evening or travel coat, but they have the plus of water-repellency. Fabrics make important rain-ware, with silk appearing prominently - silk lined, silk ribbed cotton, silk woven, silk pongee, silk tulle and nubly silk tweed. Other fabrics include wool jersey, cotton velvets, waffle-weave piguet, moire, garden.

GARDEN HINTS

When you are going out on the driveway or footpath be careful not to scatter it on the lawn. If you do, you will warn horticulturists of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

With frequent use during the winter, sodium chloride and calcium chloride will accumulate, eventually they will seep down into the soil and cause injury to trees and shrubs.

If you have not checked your gardeners recently, it is time to do so. Call the gardeners to see if they are ready for the winter. Call the gardeners to see if they are ready for the winter. Call the gardeners to see if they are ready for the winter.

Ice Cream Stains

If the ice-cream-stained area is dry, sponge it with some carbon tetrachloride to remove the fat. When the solvent has evaporated, apply a solution of water, detergent and a few drops of ammonia directly on the stain. Work the stain with the back of a comb - knive, then flush it from the fabric with cold water.

CHECK EQUIPMENT BEFORE SPRAYING

If orchard spraying takes too much time, take a careful look at the equipment for filling the sprayer. Is the water supply close to the orchard? Do you waste time driving the sprayer to and from the distant water supply? If there is no water right at the orchard have you considered hauling water by truck to the sprayer or to a supply tank in the orchard? Have you thought of a farm pond, or using a large catch basin on a main line drain as a water supply? If the orchard is large you may need more than one place to fill up.

IF THE JOB OF FILLING UP TAKES TOO LONG, TAKE A CAREFUL LOOK AT THE EQUIPMENT FOR FILLING THE SPRAYER.

Business troubles cited, service station operator draws suspended sentence

Lindsay service station operator, Samuel H. Mitchell, was placed on suspended sentence, on two years, Wednesday, following his conviction on a charge of public mischief laid by Lindsay police last week.

Mitchell was charged with intent to mislead by circulating false statements regarding an alleged hold-up at his station February 26.

Police Chief John Hunter told the court of being called to the service station on Angeline St. north (highway 35) on the Fenelon road and ending the accused "pacing up and down".

"There was blood and some bruises around his car" said the chief, "and when I asked him what had happened, he said that he had been hit over the head and robbed".

The accused told the officer that three men had pulled up to the station in a black car, and while one of them started in the car, the other two came out carrying a suitcase.

One of the men had pointed his gun at him and had hit him over the head with a piece of rubber hose and taken money from his wallet, and some from an envelope he kept in a drawer.

The phone wire had been cut, continued the officer and he was under the impression of his own doing.

He said that a call had then been put in to the OPP and a description of the man broadcast.

Following further investigation the accused was given a suspended sentence of two years.

Pickersill charges:

Says opposition couldn't prevent the government from presenting budget

Midland, March 8, (UP) — Prime Minister James Earl Pickersill has been charged with a cry-baby approach to politics and trying to weep his way back into office.

"I'm Pickersill, in a speech at Midland, Ontario, today said: 'The Prime Minister is telling voters he had good intentions and wants another chance to fail once more.'"

Pickersill said a 14-minute radio message by the Prime Minister on Monday was filled with the usual "I'm sorry" facts when the budget was a secret.

"In the 14-minute broadcast I counted 28 statements that were not true," Pickersill said. "That is two untrue statements for every one that was true."

In reviewing the Prime Minister's speech, Pickersill said there was nothing to stop the government bringing in estimates except the fact they were not yet printed. Diefenbaker had claimed the Progressive Conservative would bring down the budget, he added.

Neil Wilson

Former Warden of Victoria pioneer Kinnord resident

A man whose name has for in re-forestation, and those who worked with him will recall his dedication to this work.

For many years, Neil Wilson has passed from the scene. Neil Wilson, past Victoria County Warden, and former of Sonnewville Township, past president of the Sonnewville Agricultural Society and past president of the Sonnewville Agricultural Society is dead.

Mr. Wilson's passing at the Midland private hospital Bobcaygeon on Thursday removes one of the county's best residents.

Born in Kinnord 88 years ago on the homestead farm, Mr. Wilson dedicated his life to the forestry service, and from 1933 until his retirement was active in all agricultural and municipal affairs.

He will be well remembered for his unflagging interest in fall fair promotion, and as one of the main members of the county's time president of the Kinnord Fair Board, was given the post for numerous years.

His interest in municipal affairs could be seen in the many offices which he held in several of the county committees, while a member of Victoria County Council, his main interest was

Norland resident teted on 98th birthday

At Mrs. J. Stephens, a widely known of Ontario. This was the 98th birthday of Norland, widely known and Mrs. Stephens, who has resided for some time at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Burkwell, with her husband, Mr. Stephens.

Mrs. Stephens was pleased to receive the many congratulations from her friends and neighbors and particularly did she feel honored to receive the many congratulations from the Hon. Leslie Ford and Premier John Roberts, as well as a congratulatory message signed by John Varenco, on behalf of the Progressive Conservative Party.

Pickersill asked who charged the Liberals with there was no budget in January. He said Diefenbaker had charged the Liberals with there was no budget by asking amendments to provide continuity of care pensions while they knew allowances to the public services would be added.

Pickersill asked how the Liberals would know these facts when the budget was a secret.

He said the Prime Minister charged the Liberals knew the government intended to bring in the estimates, but when Pickersill challenged, "How could we have known when the budget is a secret?" Pickersill said the fact that legislation was introduced never introduced in parliament, although the Prime Minister said his government would have had it in effect.

Pickersill also charged that legislation was introduced about the Glasco report. Senator McCutcheon was told to get busy and carry out the recommendations, he said.

Pinches ladies overshoes, cannot understand why

A description of a row of Carpenter had hidden them. The accused led the stolen ladies overshoes, perched on a log, under the Wellington St bridge was only part of the unusual testimony heard in Lindsay court this morning at the trial of 46-year-old Charles Carpenter of Lindsay.

"I don't know why I did it," the accused told the court after he admitted to the theft of eight pairs of ladies overshoes and a pair of men's slippers from the St. Andrew's Church during a meeting there Thursday.

Police Chief John Hunter testified that his office had been given a complaint of the over-theft and on the further investigation, he was accused had been contacted and had led the police to where he

The Glen W. held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. Warne Thomas. The minutes of the January meeting were read and approved. Reports from the treasurer and flower committee were responded. The roll call was received by the treasurer and flower patches for residents of the Home For Aged.

After the business period, Mrs. Shaw gave a very interesting report of the short course on rug making which she had taken. She displayed a very attractive chair seat cover which she has hooked.

The programme chosen by the committee was in keeping with Valentine's Day. It consisted of readings given by Mrs. J. C. Innes, Mrs. Howard Hoyt and Mrs. John Innes. The meeting was brought to a close by repeating the Lord's Prayer.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess and company.

The H.C. group have had an active winter season. They recently entertained the Breckinridge group at their meeting when a special speaker was heard. RAISING BLOOD PRESSURE IN CORONARY THROMBOSIS ATTACK
 Dear Dr. Steinbock: What a Levittism! My husband had a severe attack of coronary thrombosis recently. Our doctor said that a vast over-exertion of his blood pressure brought the blood pressure back to a level over 100 systolic.

Comment: When there is a sudden cutting off of a great part of the coronary circulation of the heart by an occlusion (blocking) of an artery due to thrombosis, the patient often goes into shock. It persists profusely, his face becomes waxy and irregular — all because of the failure of the coronary arteries. In other words, the modern cause of the attack is more than just standing by "hoping for the best."

Toronto, March 26, (UPI)—
 -lature leader Sophie Chaggar charged to fight that former Ontario Premier Bob Rae, who has many friends on the Ontario Reading Commission.

Ontario's Clayton Hodgson, Federal member for Victoria, was put on the Commission to study the role of provincial ministers for Frost in Victoria in addition to his duties as a member of the Premier.

Sophie said Charles Lamb, a former Ontario cabinet minister, Tory candidate in the April 8th election, also was named to the Commission for political reasons.

"I am disappointed, originally a Liberal and scheduled to run against Hodgson but he decided to run for the job because they persuaded him to," she said.

"I know him and he got the job," she said.

Sophie said Lamb's experience with the commission was "not good."

"I think he was in and exceeded even what I was expecting Superintendent W. J. Keefe," he said.

"I think it is a good sign of winter the commission was for Florida on the province."

He was warned up his audience by declaring "They came, they saw, they disappeared like pigeons."

He expressed disbelief that the commission would do such tasks as the Truth Squad, ward passes, the coloring book, and the "discovery of himself" which all are the measuring of the mentality of the people.

Liberal campaign tactics are a policy of vilification, which is not the way to win, he said.

"I think they are for themselves," he said as he chuckled "Oh, it's all wonderful."

IT'S A GOOD JOB THEY BROUGHT IT IN THE BACK WAY. It's a good job that officials arranged to bring Prime Minister John Diefenbaker into Lindsay last night as he was on Tuesday otherwise he would have been visibly shaken by the trip. By adopting the route they did, they spared the leader of the Progressive Conservative forces one of the roughest receptions he might expect to be accorded anywhere in Canada.

We refer, of course, to the deplorable polo-holed streets in Lindsay with which every main access road to the town from the by-passing main highway, passing through St. John's, to 7 north and Kent Street, is well blessed. Had the prime minister been taken by any other route, he would only have had to see his eyes to imagine that he was on the "Rocky Road to Dublin."

Let us be the first to admit that this has been a bad trip and yet we cannot help but wonder if the lot of our streets hasn't been a great deal rougher by reason of being "penny wise and pound foolish" in their maintenance. The Tuesday route choice was clearly one of putting your best roads forward.

Remember way back when

MARCH 30, 1913
Countrymen James Boggs, of Peterboro, was in town today and is making good progress towards recovery from the injuries received last fall. In conversation with "The Post" today he said that the army would commence at noon as the frost was out of the ground. He has had a gang of men employed building a cement wall along the Rideau Canal at Smith's Falls and will be in their maintenance. The Tuesday route choice was clearly one of putting your best roads forward.

Golfers getting ready
Several of the local golf enthusiasts have already paid up the links in order to see what condition they are in. If the mild weather keeps up, they will be able to indulge in their favorite pastime very long.

MARCH 30, 1928
Kinmount—A large crowd of movie fans gathered in Hopkins' Hall for the talkie. The feature comedy picture for the evening was "The Great Dictator." There were also four short subjects, "Down in Dixie," "Curiosities," "Substitute," and "Mysteries of the Magic Vault." Miss Jean McGinnis, a former Kinmount girl, was on the stage with Miss Scott with a harmonica and Hawaiian guitar, in popular and old-time selections, piano accompaniment. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the evening fun.

One-Million Subsidy
Lindsay will benefit to the extent of $4,274.74 by the announcement of a one million dollar following the budget address of Premier M. F. Hepburn in the Provincial Legislature. The surplus of over $3,000,000 provides for the granting of a subsidy of all municipalities and the amount of the subsidy will be granted by the government was approximately one million to optimistic.

Lamb says people have seen through Liberal smoke screen

"People have now seen through the Liberal smoke screen," Progressive Conservative candidate Charles Lamb "Victory" told an Academy Theatre party last Tuesday.
"They are aware our party stands for a square deal for all people, farmers, workmen, etc." he continued, "We have a man in our midst who understands these people and how to benefit them," he stated in speaking of Prime Minister Diefenbaker, present on his election tour of Canada.

"The Liberal policy is of destruction," they will destroy Canada if they get in power and we will not let you down. I believe our prime minister has done more for Canada in the last five years than any other person in Canada. If given the opportunity he will carry on to that goal."

Turning to Prime Minister Diefenbaker he said "you may be interested to learn many have today have come from distant parts of the riding, 80 miles away. From this riding have evolved many great leaders: Sir Sir Hugh, Professor William Kirkcaldie, Dr. George Hall, Sir William MacKenzie and Hon. L. M. Frost among others," he recalled. "It would be a great honor if the Liberal Party were to be associated with the great leaders we have ever seen - John Diefenbaker. I know

"their policy of going a-broad and inflicting harm on Canada was in a state of bankruptcy was for political purposes." There is a shorter word for deceive," he said, in summing up his Liberal talk.
"It is a great campaign," he declared, "I have been told how sick I am. I tell you they will be a lot sicker on April 8th." I think Leslie Frost for his predictions of our victory and I will Charles Lamb in parliament to speak for you."

easy to uphold the other course but I say I was right. civil authority must at all times be paramount over the military authority in a democracy.

He asked the audience to compare his stand with that of the Liberal - who are as much like one having the saddle on a mount backwards and not knowing which way they are going.
"Liberal Leader Pearson now states that he is not further divided by his later nuclear was policy until after the election. First he said the Ottawa government should take nuclear weapons, then he got scared and decided to get into negotiations with the United States to get rid of them. Then he thought, 'What if the United States wouldn't negotiate ourselves out of this' - it takes time.

"Which direction is he going in? The Liberal is going," asked the PM in stating the Progressive Conservatives stand where they have morning stood on this matter.

NOTICED... along the way

Sometimes a man needs a shove to get where he's supposed to be going in the world. When Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and his wife visited at Lindsay, Mayor Joseph Holt found himself on the same cavalcade car with Mrs. Diefenbaker and Mrs. Leslie Pratt. Diefenbaker declared and the mayor set out to locate his home. But John was so spotted that when he was spotted in the crowd. It took a book from one of his chauffeurs to send him sliding down the snowbank at the edge of the street to meet Mrs. Diefenbaker.

Lindsay's bylaw enforcement men officers got a different kind of job assigned to them today. —Officer William Nimmo had a brief fling at trying to round up a deer this morning at least it was a hind leg the typewriter. A stray deer was reported in the St. John Street area but it kept several jumps ahead of its pursuers. (5474)

Tomorrow (Thursday) is one day in the year when you should avoid spring cleaning. —It's the first day of Spring, only you'll be able to officially welcome it for a while year.

S.S. 6 school to be closed for one year on trial

A meeting of the Somerville Township School area Trustees was held in the Kimmot school.

The minutes of the last meeting were adopted on the motion of E. Morrison, seconded by J. Halliday. Two of the Kimmot teachers were in attendance and requested that the Board consider the purchase of a small duplicator for that school. The Chairman explained that one was already on order and that no doubt it would be delivered in the very near future. Mr. Hugh McNamara had been invited to the meeting to quote prices on ventilating fans for the washrooms. After due discussion it was moved by J. Halliday, seconded by E. Morrison that Mr. McNamara install 22 ventilating fans in the Kimmot school washrooms complete with time switches. The contract price to be $160.00. He was also asked to check all fire extinguishers, check electricals in the furnace at Kimmot and replace if necessary.

The closing of the Douglas school was again discussed and it was moved by R. Handley, seconded by E. Morrison that the school at S.S. 6, be closed for one year on trial, to be re-opened if found necessary after that time. The motion carried unanimously.

Moved by E. Morrison, seconded by R. Handley that the Secretary write to the Dept. of Transport re the Bus licence for Pielder and Hancock. Mr. Barry of the Hanks Irwin and Pearson firm of Architects was present and had a sketch of the proposed new school at Hurst River for the Trustees approval. There was a lengthy discussion on the type of heating etc. As the Board felt there was not enough storage space provided it was moved by J. Halliday, seconded by R. Handley that the architect draw up another sketch enlarging the storage space and teachers room. Revised plans to be sent to Mr. Ward and the secretary.

Moved by R. Handley the meeting adjourned.

A new book, "Early Days in Haliburton County" written by H. (Harry) S. Cummings of Ottawa is the most interesting and comprehensive history of the County I have ever seen.

This book has only recently been published by the Department of Lands and Forests and should become a "MUST" for all those interested in Haliburton County.

I have only had a quick look at the book but hope to obtain a copy within the next few days. When I do I'll tell you in one of my next columns.

Mr. Cummings is a summer resident of Haliburton County and has without a doubt spent more time on research in the historical background for his book than anyone else I have ever meet.

Two years ago Mr. Cummings visited me on different occasions and at that time he almost had a truck full of material in the back of his car.

More of his book interesting while wait out for it when it appears — it's worth owning.

Thursday of last week I spent a very enjoyable time with Mr. Quimby F. Hess of the Forest Ranger School — it was Mr. Hess who showed me the copy of the "Cummings book".

Mr. Hess is quite a collector of historical artifacts and is building up a small museum on logging at the Ranger's School. His latest find is a broad axe in almost new condition. He allowed me to look at it and handle it for a few minutes but my reputation must have preceded me for he wouldn't let it out of his sight. He has hopes of gaining more material and expanding the museum from time to time.

Quite a few of the old, interesting pictures on display are from M. (Mike) F. O'Neill's collection of Minden. "Mike" is quite a collector himself and in the past I have been indebted to him for running down material for me. His best find was a grain cradle in perfect condition. It's my main conversation piece.

Early this week, W. S. Cooke and myself were out on a short business trip. We were working on the old Buckhorn road south of Haliburton when we came over a small hill and Wally drew my attention to something in front of us.

"Look at that, would you?" W. S. is a hurried fellow. "I'm glad the kids aren't here to see this!"

I looked at a sign which I looked, and I agreed — it was a sight to make men of sterner stuff blanch and turn away.

In front of us, as unconcerned as possible, was a young lady fully dressed in ski clothes and parka — (I'm almost afraid to continue — the Editor is rather touchy on printing this type of thing). However, it was there, so it must be recorded.

The young lady was leading a cow across the road to get it water at a small stream — ed Lindsay-to-Minden electric railroad. A bill was passed by the railways committee, giving the company power to extend branches to Balsam Lake and Fenelon Falls, and to charge tolls for telephone and telegraph messages over wires through these new districts.

"That piece of information should help you during parties where the conversation lags — you could always start it rolling again by asking —

"I wonder whether became the electric railroad they were planning on running from Lindsay to Minden?"

Had a quick visit from A. E. "Bert" Hick of Lindsay accompanied by B. C. Bruce "Maidens. They were inquiring for Fenwick Finch but they had just missed him — he'd left for a short vacation down south.

Fenwick has gone down to Williamsburg Va. and has promised to let us know what he saw and did during his visit.

Wherever Messrs. Hick and Maidens show up in the county, business seems to "boom" — almost as if light money got a little looser and some of it escaped.

I see by the papers another Lindsay stalwart has us on his list — we can look forward to several visits from C. "Charlie" Lamb.

That about winds it up for this week — oh yes, I almost forgot.

Fenwick told me to pass on to his readers the fact that he is writing a book — with any luck at all it should be in publication this Fall. Like all frustrated writers, who keep running off of the editor's censorship, he's putting it in book form.

The title is roughly set at "The Best of Fenwick Finch," or "All the Stories the Editors wouldn't print."

Thanks for the several letters I have received in the past week — I'll get around to answering them shortly.

WELL, THEY'RE AT IT AGAIN

Like all political parties are trying to woo the 1968 voters with promises of more handouts. The latest version is a bid effort with the Progressive Conservatives trying to outbid the Liberals for the support of parents of children over 18 who attend 18-month night school. The party is offering a $1000 cash award for each child the family allowance (baby bonus) for a couple more years.

The course, calls for some far-sighted economic planning by the politicians. . . . The promising parties have to look ahead to the day their party is elected (if it is) when they can cast about for a new place to put the lie on the taxpayer, a touchy matter never so much as the poor creature is showing signs of becoming sensitive to tax.

The latest overture is really a masterpiece of economic master-planning. Here we have a couple that find itself with an unemployment insurance cheque that constantly threatens to go broke, a budget that no one has been able to balance since it was drawn upon, and then two, allegedly responsible, political leaders come along and say in effect: "You're going up, we'll see that you get the family allowance for a longer. We don't know where we're going to get the money to pay you but leave it to us . . . let us do the worrying until you're out of the bill to meet, then you take over the worry job while we cook up a new deal to distract attention from the family allowance fiasco." Of course, they don't spell it out like that but what kind of morons do they think the taxpayers are if they believe these hand offering subjects still think governments have any way of raising money except by putting their greedy hands in the taxpayers' life pockets?

Perhaps the most ridiculous part of the latest proposal is that it follows the same pattern as the old age pension . . . you could be a well-to-do person and not want any part of it but you've got to take it . . . it's in the book. Isn't it silly? What is so much vital business needing attention, and the cost of living is at a record-breaking level, with people in low and middle income brackets already acquiring under a tax load which is too heavy, is this the best that our master-planners can come up with?

SHOULDN'T BE TOO HARD TO FIGURE OUT . . .

Despite the fact that the Ontario Dept. of Transportation permits and allows automobile license sales on sale much in advance of former years, there was still a number of people who either had to line up for the license or didn't make it by the deadline at all. The early sale did little towards saving the people the trouble. It shouldn't be too hard to figure out why.

Let's face the reasons why people are so late: (a) The average person has a heck of a time meeting his bill in mid-week with fuel costs taking a big bite out of the family budget. (b) The government is too incentive to buy early (cash discounts), so why part with interest-earning money before you have to. (c) The government is too slow in saving by buying early how they form ranks for a good show, political rallies, etc. They find the lineup kind of interesting and they find the time given them to get to the line is too short. The weather, the price of food and any number of topics which have mutual appeal.

Let's face the reasons why people are so late to get people to part with money, for whatever reason, before it is just and legally due, you're going to have to give some information. . . . saving by buying early is about the best anyone has come up with yet. Why not apply it honestly? It might be better results than those aggravating reminders that the deadline won't be extended.

A MARKED DEGREE OF INCONSISTENCY

A news report heard on Thursday suggested that a road was about to have the speed limit increased to 40 from 35 highways in Ontario. But this was only part of the story. . . . Ontario highway safety officials were quoted as having said that higher speeds on main roads would not influence the accident rate one way or the other. This, of course, points to a marked degree of inconsistency in highway traffic circles. At many points along main travelled highways in the province, motorists come upon signs reading "SLOW DOWN AND LIVE—SPEED KILLS". Who's telling the truth: the exponents of higher speeds or the people who urge drivers to "slow down and live"? Does speed kill, does it not? When related to highway travel? Isn't it about time we stopped confusing the motorist public? In view of Ontario's disastrous highway fatality record, we need nothing of its crippling accidents, can we afford to take chances? Who would say the average "nut behind the wheel" can hold things together at speeds higher than he is now allowed to drive if he gets in a car?

LET THERE BE NO MISUNDERSTANDING . . .

There should be no misunderstanding among politicians anywhere in Canada regarding the Royal Canadian Legion's position in the matter of a national flag for Canada. Let any sign be doubt as to its position, we quote from an editorial in the March issue of "The Legionary", official publication of the organization:

Our National Flag
A few days after the publication of our February issue, letters from readers began pouring in, commenting on the Legion's stand on the flag issue. Those printed in our Letters column this month are only representative examples and we regret that space limitations make it impossible to find room for more. Our warmest thanks are extended to all our correspondents who have taken the trouble to write us.

Up to the time of the deadline for this edition (which did not favour the Legion's stand. Writers of

KILLING TWO FISH WITH ONE STONE

A constant search goes on today for new ways of producing food. In "The Farming World" programme broadcast each week in the CBC General Overseas Service, John Newell talked about the idea that came to an Ontario young man, Mr. John Newell, who works for the British Central Electricity Generating Board, for combining the production of electricity with the production of fish. "Every power plant produces a great deal of waste water every day in its cooling system," Newell pointed out. "But while the water is doing its job as a cooler it gets heated up, and this heat is lost down the drain in the normal and mostly useless manner as cooling towers. Mrs. Iles and his team of research workers have been able to make possible the re-use of this waste water by ponds. Several square miles in extent, into which water from power stations could be emptied and which could be kept there for a long time. This is the best temperature for breeding tropical fish, like the Malayan tilapia, the Nile perch, or the Indian mahi-mahi. This provides good fish for their native countries and there is no reason, at least in theory, why they should not be the same in Britain. The warm waters that nurtured them could be recycled through the turbines of the power station where they had lost some of their heat, warmed up again and brought back to the ponds to provide fishsmen with more exotic delicacies."

Tropical fish are only one possible way of making use of this wasted heat from power stations. The same deluge is also investigating in Russia, not a food source, but a nuisance, because clusters of these creatures block up the inlet pipes of the water supplies of power stations, and they remain in the water. Oysters are considered a luxury today, in the last century they were one of the staple protein foods of the poorer classes in Britain.

"This research may prove valuable in Britain, but it should prove far more valuable in the developing countries, where the huge capital cost of a nuclear or even of a conventional power programme could be partly offset by coupling it with a new means of food production. These investments would be far more acceptable. The main objection to the idea in Britain is the value of the land taken up by the fish ponds which would have to be built in many developing countries the land needed for such ponds could be purchased very cheaply."

—BBC London Letter.

HEALTH HAPPINESS AND SUCCESS

It is a happy coincidence that young and old—probably the most common wives expressed in young and old, are bound up in most of mankind's seeking, striving and yearning. These are often goals for the young, and for the old, and for the man or woman about to retire, and even for children.

But as the late Eleanor Roosevelt once said, happiness is a by-product. And the same might also be said for health and success.

Certainly it would seem that to some extent these three things are inseparable. Perhaps the following paragraphs, taken from a recent speech given by Vice-President & General Manager W.H. Cruckshank are relevant to the point. He was speaking at the annual meeting of the Quebec Division of the Canadian Mental Health Association, he said that no industrial organization is more concerned with the health of its workers than he is. He said that the company's management has learned the wisdom of caring for its workers' physical welfare, most now concern itself with their mental health.

Such critical letters, however, are reminded that the Dominion President and the Legionary are carrying out the instructions given them to publicize the flag resolutions passed unanimously by two successive Dominion Conventions of the Royal Canadian Legion—at Halifax in 1962 and at Windsor in 1960. We are therefore firmly of the opinion that the adoption of a policy matter, decided upon by the governing body of this organization—the Dominion Convention—after due deliberation and with full opportunity for the convention delegates freely to voice their views for or against the resolution. It is significant that not one delegate out of the one hundred-and-some who represented their branches at these conventions spoke against the resolutions, and in each case the vote for the Canadian Red Ensign was unanimous.

"Of course," as Judge C.C. Sparling, the Legion's national leader, said in his letter to the Prime Minister which was reproduced in full in our February issue, it would be foolish to suggest that every last member of the Legion approves of the choice of the Canadian Red Ensign. In an organization of 350,000 members this would be too much to expect. But the convention vote and the letters to the editor in this issue are a clear indication that those in opposition to the official national policy of the Legion constitute only a small minority. The membership of the Royal Canadian Legion being a real cross-section of the Canadian people—high and low, rich and poor, of many racial backgrounds, with different political and religious affiliations and living in every part of Canada—the firm belief of the Legionary that the Legion's stand on the flag issue truly reflects the feelings of the majority of the Canadian people.

"That is why we asserted in our February issue that the Canadian Red Ensign is the only flag that stands a real chance of being recognized as the national flag of Canada. In spite of 17 years of campaigning since the Senate-Commons flag committee in 1946, despite millions of dollars of free space in the letter columns of daily newspapers and magazines, not one of the more than 3,000 other designs proposed has made a lasting impact or obtained a real following across the country."

"As we said in the February issue, the plain fact is that by right of long, unbroken and long usage as well as official pronouncements, the Canadian Red Ensign is to the majority of our people the national flag."

Reports and Remarks...

"Psychological success is essential to real achievement," he said. "A successful man must feel psychologically successful."

"... any attempt to give employees real responsibility in a climate of trust and truly high expectation can contribute to the mental well-being of the individual in industry and of our whole industrial population."

The Toronto Area Vice-President defined mental health as an ability to live in harmony with one's achievement. It implies ability to survive, to compete, to acquire skills consistent with ability to obtain responsibilities, to accept and to live with or overcome personal limitations and finally, to accept the consequences of one's own behaviour.

"Mental health cannot be equated just to happiness and security," he said, "for no human is completely happy or completely secure or completely self-sufficient. In fact, the human condition is one of perpetual dissatisfaction as normal, perhaps desirable. I believe these factors to be health motivation factors for the individual and for the whole society."

FALLING BARRIERS

Recent studies of employment practices in the United States suggest that the barriers against older job-seekers are beginning to lower. One of the reasons is that an increasing number of employers are rejecting age restrictions on the grounds that many under-aged and older workers are just as capable. They have needed skills and experience but are more likely to stay with the company than are restless young workers.

The U.S. federal department of labour in the 1966 study of job openings in five cities found that 58 percent carried upper age limits, while 41 percent of the openings actually stipulated applicants under 46. The latest such study shows only 39 percent of openings in the same cities carried maximum age limits; these stipulating applicants under 45 had declined to 26 percent of the total.

Illustrative of the trend is the newly opened major department store in Dallas which imposed no maximum age limit when hiring its work force last summer and as a result has 200 employees whose average age is 41. ("We've taken these people on because we expect them to do more for us than young folk," says the boss.)

A tannery in Illinois will hire no one under 45.

"We've found older workers are of better quality," says the vice-president.

An insurance concern in Connecticut likes older workers mainly because, in the words of the personnel director, "they are subject to less turnover. You don't have nearly the training and recruitment costs that you do with younger people. These are very, very expensive."

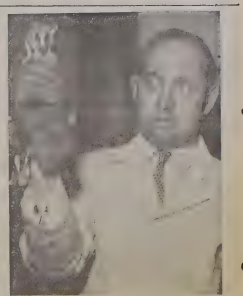

The sales staff of a Texas oil refinery is almost entirely made up of salesmen over 45, younger men having been gradually replaced on the basis of performance, and a San Francisco law college won't hire any teacher under 65. (The oldest is 83.)

Of course, these particular revelations don't add up to a job-filled market for older folks. Those who have low skills and limited education continue to pose the hardest employment problem of all, in Canada, no less than the U.S.

But the knowledge that age is becoming less and less a barrier to employment and that qualifications and capacity are what count is something from which they too can draw a measure of satisfaction.

It's never too late to learn—and the probability is that in the years immediately ahead many men and women in their sixties and seventies—sager to remain producers as well as consumers—will want the chance to prove it.

The increasingly rapid rate at which the portion of older workers in the labour force is rising is one reason why the use of it should want to encourage them—industry.

"GET-OUT-THE-VOTE"

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce announces it has launched a national, non-partisan program to encourage Canadians to carefully study the issues in connection with the forthcoming general election, and to cast an informed ballot on April 8th. To make the "Get-Out-The-Vote" program fully effective across the country, Canada's national business organization is enlisting the support of its over 850 member Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce and some 2600 member companies.

These groups, representing a cross section of the country's business and community life, are asked to coordinate an intensive campaign to get the vote on April 8th. They will bring into play such skills as literature, speakers, posters, counter cards and stickers, and will be asked to make the most effective use of privileges and we also have corresponding duties and responsibilities. This President Victor Oland of The Canadian Chamber of Commerce. "One of the most important of these responsibilities is to vote intelligently on election day. Those eligible to vote should make sure their names are on the voters' lists, inform themselves on the issues and candidates, and on election day—April 8th—they should vote."

Using the mails to advertise places and services has taken some novel forms over the years, some of them humorous. Those with a gleeful sense of humour will probably sit up half the night chortling over the one seen in the top picture which just came through the mail this week. It's from "Amos Mossmann," currently on vacation at Sarasota, Florida, where he is operating as an agent for a southern undertaker while he's not basking in the Florida sunshine or attending the dog race.

Lindsay made great capital out of its Bascule Bridge, the one some people want to do away with now on Wellington St. just east of William. It is seen here in a so old time picture taken while a photographer stood by the riverbank and got his picture taken while he took one of the bridge. Does anyone recognize him from this fine view?

Miss Lillie Dobson of Oakwood had the picture of the bridge and the happy scene advertising Kirkfield seen immediately below in some old picture albums. They were produced around 1910 and 1911.

Looking through these old albums can be a source of great fun for those who like to take a look into the past. It's great watching it, but even more fun for Sunday during election campaigns.

Everything will likely be "as fine as silk" in the Ontario Provincial Police Force now that Eric H. Silk is the name of the department's commissioner.

Came here to build factories, acquires a new industry

A Peterboro construction company which came to town last year to erect two factories on the industrial site at the mill, came to the mill and put it to use as a warehouse. The machinery there is all in tact as when used for the manufacture of door, window sash, etc., the new owner said.

Mr. Sule also described his construction on the Lindsay construction company has now acquired two factories in 11,000 and 7,000 square feet of floor space respectively. The larger one is on speculation and the other is being erected for an unspecified American manufacturer, he stated.

The Braughton plant and decorating business was not acquired by the Sule firm purchase, Mr. Sule said.

Jail employees $300 increase is petitioned

Reconsideration of a $300 yearly increase for all jail employees has been requested. The petition was made by their solicitor — R. W. Calverley — at the meeting of Victoria County Council. He asked the council to reconsider the increase as he felt that it was insufficient and unsatisfactory. Failing that, Mr. Calverley requested council to rescind a bylaw which gives the county the right to deal with salary matters.

Council finally decided to adopt the entire report of the negotiating committee.

Jail salaries were hiked following a roundabout process of deliberation. The newly-formed jail and property committee visited the jail and heard statements by the governor, following which the committee members sat in with the Minister of Departmental Institutions at Toronto. Later on, the Committee passed on recommendations to the newly formed Negotiating Committee, which Committee submitted a report in detail regarding all salaries.

In discussing the jail salaries, it was pointed out that when the different fringe benefits are taken into consideration, jail employees are adequately remunerated. These benefits include paid for holidays, pension scheme, new uniforms, etc., which it was stated in the case of the employees an addition of $400 a year, means the addition of some $700 a year and in the case of some of the employees an addition of $400 a year.

The idea of closing the jail was mentioned and councillors were told that prisoners from Lindsay could not be accommodated at Millbrook but the county could approach jail officials at Peterboro, Oshawa, or Orillia.

It was also stated that the Department of Reform Institutions is interested in closing two or three jails and establishing a centrally located jail.

Reeve Found stated that the salaries at the jail are not as high as those at the Lindsay Prison or Police Department and probably not as high as in Lindsay industry. However, duties and requirements in all cases are not the same.

Jail salaries start at $2,800 yearly and work up to a maximum of $3,400, plus bonus. At the present time, jail employees receive from $3,000 up.

25% water rate surcharge effective in about year, some of problems noted

Lindsay water users can eventually expect to pay an additional 25% surcharge on their bills following the passing of the new by-law to lower the water rate. It will probably be implemented in about a year's time according to Mayor Joseph Reynolds. The Lindsay Water Commission has been advised to set the wheels in motion for a program that will take an average of $25,000 from the population of the water users to help pay for the large type new disposal plant now under construction.

There were objections to the order from some of the members present at the March board meeting. Commissioner Maurice Collins stated that it was just another gimmick.

"I don't see what we have to do with sewer, this has been tried before but with little success," he said.

Mayor Reynolds remarked that "other municipalities were doing it, and it seemed the fairest way of apportioning the cost."

It was stated, that an estimated $25,000 a year would be realized from the surcharge, based on the present rates, when applied on the $350,000 meter, not taking into consideration repairs, maintenance, and possible expansion would go for at least 20 years and maybe for longer.

One of the commissioners said objections had been raised among many of the water users, some complaining others asking where they stood if they were not using the sewer facilities, although hooked into the sewer. The surcharge will be applied however, it is a hook up to the sewer.

DR. BUTTINKI NEEDS

COURAGE TO INTRUDE
Years ago people sometimes used a phrase: "Don't be a Buttinki!" If they thought you were trespassing on their private and personal grounds, it was their way of telling the doctor to get out.

I often wish we doctors had the courage and the moral right to be Dr. Buttinkis. But like others who have learned to mind their own business, we keep quiet even when the stakes are life or death.

For example, recently I was sitting in front of a man and woman on the bus. The man said, "These pains across my chest have been getting worse. Whenever I walk a block or two I actually have to stop for a few minutes before I can go on walking again."

I wanted to turn around and say "I am a doctor and your symptoms are quite like those of angina pectoris. Better see your doctor as soon as you can." But I didn't and it still bothers me, even though I was asked by a stranger some years ago under similar circumstances, not to be a Buttinki.

SKIN CANCER DIAGNOSED

Yesterday afternoon I saw someone towards me on a downtown street a man who had a sore on his cheek which looked unmistakably like skin cancer. It was tempting to stop and advise him, but I didn't.

Across the aisle from me on a recent plane trip to New York sat a man, fiftyish, who coughed almost continually for about two hours. He breathed and acted like a man with chronic emphysema. Yet he told me he was a doctor and I could go to him for help. If I had edged over and said that I was a doctor and that it might make good sense for him to smoke less, he would have been grateful. He was a Buttinki.

RESOLUTIONS TO INTERFERE
I believe we doctors might save thousands of lives yearly by being willing to butt in when we recognized limits in the bus, in the street, or elsewhere.

The next time I see illness in a passerby, I resolve to say "Go see your doctor as soon as you can."

Loses a finger while performing neurolytic

An act of neurolytic assistance resulted in injury for a Creaswell village man.

Russell (Mickey) Oliver is recovering in the Rose Memorial Hospital here for a freak accident which resulted in the complete amputation of the index finger of his left hand.

Mr. Russell, who was released from hospital Saturday, said he was cutting up some straw wood for his neighbor, George Biddy, who has been ill. He was in the act of chopping the last block when in some manner, the axe came in contact with the index finger on his left hand which was holding the block.

"I really don't know how it happened," said Mr. Russell, "but my finger was cut off and Mr. Biddy drove me in his car to the hospital."

"I was found necessary to make a complete amputation of the finger," Dr. R. Watson, attending surgeon found, he added.

Cresswell

The influence of his hit ten a goodly portion of the neighborhood, and as a result some schools are closed to the great pleasure of the scholars.

Whoooping cough is also prevalent in the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Sornberger of Oshawa, Ont., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sornberger.

Mr. Lester Lusk is recovering slowly from her recent tonsillectomy.

Miss Mickey Oliver is confined to Bowmanville Hospital after having suffered a fall, while visiting in that town.

Mr. Mill Ormrod, of Little Britain, and formerly of this village, has opened a barber shop in the rear of his home. This will be a great asset to the community, as there was none in the district. Everyone wishes him the best of luck in his new business.

Mr. Percy Brown attended a business meeting of Superintendents in Toronto, and took his truck up for an exchange, while waiting for the truck, he is to receive, to be prepared for him.

Mrs. Harry Franklyn is progressing favorably, and it is thought that she will be home very shortly, although she will have to remain in bed some time.

Three attacks on deer reported in single day

Three attacks on deer in a single day do deer running in the large brought calls for action to the legs of Lindsay and Forests. All occurred on Wednesday last. The first was reported by the "Weekly Review" just released by the district office. Recalling the incident, it states: "We were successful in saving a doe, in Harvey Township near Nogies Creek, which was under attack by three dogs, but a less fortunate creature in the same township was killed. This one, a doe, four years old was found from examination, to be carrying twin fawns, a male and a female."

When these occurrences are reviewed, it is apparent of our officers they are faced with the always daunting task of about dogs and prosecuting their owners, when ownership can be established.

Ontario power rates among lowest in world, Strike tells Kiwanians

Ontario's electrical rates are among the world's lowest, Ontario Hydro Chairman W. R. Strick told the Lindsay Kiwanis Club this week. Strick said the rates have remained at a very stable level when compared to the rising rates of other communities. "In fact," he declared, in terms of constant dollars, the average cost per kilowatt hour in all municipal services (municipal and Ontario Hydro combined) has fallen since 1940. There are few, if any, communities as price conscious as electric power.

Size of riding surprises PC candidate Chas. Lamb

The size of Victoria riding has surprised the Progressive Conservative candidate who is contesting it. After a tour of the Ontario County North portion, PC candidate Charles Lamb said: "I have had a few election sales in this part of the riding but I never realized it was so extensive and so well populated until I was plotted around by Clayton Hodgson." He seems to know everybody. Commenting on his visit to Cammington, Mr. Lamb remarked: "It is the home of the New Democratic Party candidate and he has been hard at work, as can be expected. However, I will need workers and workers assure me the large majority Mr. Hodgson received in Ontario north last June will be retained."

Continuing, Mr. Lamb added: "I was surprised to learn the interest people in Ontario north take in local development projects. ## Noticed which to kick it about. This scene on Wellington Street is one of the drivers here to be particularly careful in spring's opening days when the cold can hardly get to start the game and playing fields are a sodden mess.

The Dept. of Lands and Forests at Lindsay says it thinks the sure sign that spring has really arrived is a report of some heading north. Lloyd Fraser, Victoria County game warden, was the first on record with such information. He reported seeing 12 geese in flight northward on March 18th. Since then two larger flocks have been heard making their way to their summer haunts.

The uninitiated in the ways of nature often come to the occasional surprise. Take the fellow we heard about the other day who was out for a walk in the woods and was being better served by a little bird with a rusty red breast than he thought it was harboring a rare specimen of bird life. Several dozens of bird seed and many treats to the feeding table were even stopping to eat his breakfast. That was to be the bird would get miffed at the service and leave his thought. "Yes, you're right. Yes, you're right. Just a plain ordinary Red Pouter common to this area. Plain ordinary, common, or whatever, it is still a lovely little creature and both it and its mate can have all the show they can tack away."

There seems to be some mix up as to what band is going to serenade Judy W. Marsh Thursday evening. The Keweenaw first billing but that, according to a later report, may have been changed. There's really a surplus of thing in his hand that looked like a gun", continued the witness.

"I ducked back into the van and there was another shot."

Q. "Did you see this shot fired?"

A. "No."

Q. "Did you hear anything?"

A. "Yes, I heard someone say 'Stay where you are.'"

Willson said he then heard the front door slam, and that Mr. McConnell slumped over the counter, moaning.

During the doory of the bank, Willson said he saw a man take off at a "great rate of speed", nearly hitting the other car in his haste to get away.

He said he went to the window and called the police and noticed Mr. McConnell on his back.

"He seemed to be choking and where his shirt was open could see two holes in his chest, one of them bleeding slightly."

A few moments later, Willson said Constable George Mountstearn and Dr. Glasse arrived.

In cross examining the witness, Defence Counsel Austin Cooper suggested that Willson was carrying a shopping bag, and the first time he (Willson) had noticed his chest, one of them bleeding slightly.

"At the preliminary hearing then asked if my client was carrying anything you said 'Not to my knowledge.' Is that correct?" he queried.

"Yes, but he had it with him when he came into the bank," answered Willson.

"Across these days but someone was bound to ask, 'Will there be lots of march numbers'?"

Community judged by how it looks after its children, CAS speaker declares

"It is necessary that all of us as citizens mind someone's business in protecting the children of the community," the speaker admonished.

A community is judged to how it looks after its children," he declared Rev. G. V. Gaughan of the Catholic Social Centre, Peterboro, while addressing the annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society, Monday evening.

Objects to pictures on grounds might tend to inflame jury

A request by Defence Counsel Austin Cooper to have certain photographs withdrawn as evidence in the death of Eric McConnell was overruled by Justice Hughes presiding for the trial of George Armstrong.

Constable Cooper objected on grounds that two blown up photographs, taken by OPP Identification Officer B. Bank square, showing the interior of the bank, and also of the deceased Eric McConnell, might tend to inflame the jury.

Earlier, the jury had seen and studied a number of photographs of the interior and exterior of the bank where the incident occurred, before the Crown stating he was not going asked to retire while the judge considered Mr. Cooper's objection.

"I anticipated this," remarked Crown Attorney J. Bank, and he said he felt the pictures mentioned were admissible according to the rules.

Justice Hughes agreed with the Crown stating he was not convinced the pictures would be shocking and must be admitted.

Witness

Q. "You replied 'Not that I could see.' When asked what the man did when he got to the door, you said he sat down to the visitor's chair and waited. You said you saw the shopping bag at that time but couldn't tell what was in it."

Crown Attorney Lorne W. Jordan: "What appearance in the bank are you referring to? This should be clear, which occasion - the first or second appearance of the stranger in the bank?"

Defence Counsel: "The second appearance."

"You were asked 'defence counsel continued questioning the witness, was the accused carrying anything when he went into the manager's office. You said you hadn't noticed slips, paper bag but said 'I didn't see him carrying a thing.'"

Q. "When the door was opened and the stranger came back in after being out to the car, was he carrying something?"

A. "I didn't notice. I saw him sitting down with a shopping bag beside him."

Defence Counsel: "I suggest to you that you didn't see the shopping bag when the stranger was sitting down waiting to see the manager. You said the only time you saw the bag was when the accused was sitting down waiting to see the manager."

Q. "Can you explain the difference in your testimony today and in magistrate's court."

A. "No."

Q. "I understand the accused talked to you about a loan and shortly afterwards you mentioned looking up the cash and asked him if he wanted money. This was before he went out and came back from the car?"

Justice Sam Hughes: "Say, do you remember these questions and answers?"

Witness: "Next time he came back and I let him in the bank, he sat in a chair and waited. Then I saw the shopping bag sitting there and went on with routine. Mr. Cooper was waiting to see Mr. McConnell."

I went and asked everybody if they needed cash as I was putting it away for the week end. Then I went to the tellers and spoke to Mr. McConnell. The accused was still sitting. I told him I would be looking up the cash. He said he wanted to see the manager about a loan."

"Positive" view of industry

BY CLIFF BENSON

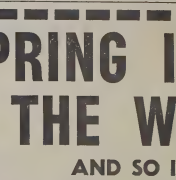

A new Liberal government will set up a Department of Industry. The department will work out, industry by industry, what can be done to promote new production in Canada at economic costs. Working with management and trade unions it will develop appropriate government policies such as tax incentives, and industry adjustment grants to assist new plants and encourage plant enlargement.

The speaker admonished. Introduced by President A. H. Alton, Rev. Gaughan was thanked by A. T. Lacey.

A new Liberal government will set up a National Development Corporation which will seek aid from the public so that the people of Canada and the government will work together to finance new enterprises in Canada. The aim of this agency will be to increase Canadian production and to reverse the trend toward absentee ownership of Canadian industry.

Pot Shots By The Maidens of Minden

By now we have all read about the affair at Kirkland Lake. One police dog - eight school children, mauled, bitten and lacerated. This was only one dog. We have all read 100 dogs were found loose in the Counties of Victoria and Haliburton.

A little on rolling is still being done about it. Despite all the bylaws covering this business - but sufficient seems to be forthcoming. Since the dogs themselves have refused to obey the BY-LAWS how about giving them the owners?

It's not going to think about - are people going to wait until some youngster be comes a casualty then run round wringing your hands saying: "We should do something!"

"It's true - one has been bitten - yet - this year - no more."

Just next three weeks are trying time for dogs of both sexes - their tempers are at their peak - I hope no youngsters get caught in a group of dogs.

It isn't very often you get a dog that pleases being served by a radio personage.

This enjoyable experience happened to me when I stopped in at Jack Storm's last week to pick up a couple of dog tags.

As I was driving into the yard I heard a young lady give a well-constructed safety slogan over the local radio station.

Imagine my surprise when I stepped into the store to have the young lady, Miss Bev Storm wait on me.

Modern science is quite a thing - one minute you hear a young lady on the radio - the next she is wrapping you up some hot-trout.

I had a young chap tell me the other night he felt that I should go a long way - on.

Before I could think him for the kind words he said, "I've got the sonner, the better..."

This reminded me of a story, but owing to strict censorship, it will have to be shelved or given to Penwick for publication.

Suddenly, the well has run dry - I can't think of a thing - this would appear to be a time to dip out to the kitchen and brew a pot of grog - maybe it will start me thinking again - don't go away - I'll be right back.

Well, here it is - the next day and I'm no further ahead than I was last night.

A visit with congenial friends is always a good way to spend time. This would be a good time to drop in on Dave and Peggy Edwards of Osopego Lodge.

There is nothing more relaxing than to sit in the livingroom of OSOPEGO LODGE and look across Mountain Lake. No matter what the day the scene is almost beautiful.

Peggy and Dave have just returned from a stay in the South and are taking a few days rest before they get in to the swing of another busy tourist season.

I don't start now we got involved in the following subject but some how or other during the conversation we got on the subject of bad roads.

It's just impossible to mention the streets in Lindsay, but anyway Dave started to tell me about the problems of scenic Highway 35.

He is in his capacity of Vice President of the Haliburton Chamber of Commerce has been deputized to contact Mr. E. H. Jones, Divisional Engineer of the Ontario Department of Highways.

"The Chamber of Commerce," stated Dave, "represents the whole of Haliburton County and we are certain that every business and civic organization in this area is involved in the long-protracted re-making of Highway 35 from Carnarvon north."

"We have reached a point of deep concern on this subject," continued Mr. Edwards, "years ago, when the highway was completed as far north as Carnarvon, we were told that the world would proceed the following year. Now we have done, but we then gathered from Mr. Leslie Frost that it would certainly be done the next year."

"In years following, some very rough patching only has been applied here and there, and we understand each time, that the reason this repair work was so inconspicuously done was that this whole stretch of highway was about to be re-made anyway, as promised."

"A fine new bridge, (with its approach) was built recently at Dorset, a plain indication of the importance of this route, but still this stretch of highway has been allowed to sink into a state of neglect. Just what the point is that I am referring to."

Within the same period, Highway 121, (as only one example) was completely re-made - a project already long overdue to be sure - but never at any time did this Highway reach the dangerous condition Highway 35 has been for some time now."

also on promotion. In 1960, Pierre Belton devoted his entire column to Ontario's "Famous Scenic Highway" an unusual type of topic for him to select.

"This highway is the accepted route between Route 11, Algonquin Park, Muskoka and the north on the one hand, and the County town, Minden and the County town, Minden on the other - not to mention Lindsay and other towns as well as the whole of the Highlands of Haliburton north area."

"Well," concluded Dave, "that's the situation in a nutshell. The Chamber of Commerce is certainly going to do everything in its power to see that something is done - and not too far in the future, this time. Now then, what were you saying about bad roads and streets?"

"Dave," I answered, pouring myself another coffee, "you took the words right out of my mouth."

Yesterday, a reader took me task for the way I write. "You think you'd learn to spell a little better and not make so many mistakes in your copy."

"My friend," I answered, "the blame is not all mine. I write it one way - by the time it comes out in print a great many things can happen to it. I'll check out the line operator and the printer - I appreciate the fact I may write the mistakes - I but, with the mistakes, I have outside help."

Saw a rookie police officer's report to his first traffic accident.

"Bliss" was involved in the accident which bruised her somewhat and injured her otherwise but apparently did not hurt her elsewhere."

"Only a few years ago, Mr. Ford described Highway 35, to use his own words, 'The main route north.' For this and many other obvious reasons we have felt fully justified in improving our tourist facilities and spending much

HYPOTHYROID CONDITION NEGLECTED BY MEDICINE

It is easy to make a diagnosis when the symptoms and signs are right out in the open. The trick is to discover trouble in borderline cases and where it is least suspected.

SUSPICIOUS SYMPTOMS

Diagnosis is easy in patients who have the typical symptoms and signs. They complain of being cold and wear sweaters or coats while their friends are perfectly comfortable. Skin is dry; pulse may be slow; eyes are puffy; speech is slow and mentally dull. Affected patients are often constipated, nervous, sleepless. There is also a tendency toward fat.

DIAGNOSTIC TESTS

Confronted with such symptoms and signs, the physician will usually suspect hypothyroidism. To confirm the diagnosis, he will take one or more of the following test methods: serum protein-bound iodine test, or thyroidal radioactive uptake examination. If the thyroid is definitely underactive, the patient will usually improve by taking prescribed doses of thyroid extract.

HOW TO STOP SMOKING

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: I just read your column in which a man tells how he quit smoking after 45 years. I quit cigarette smoking after 40 years of putting and coughing. I used to smoke one carton a week constipated, nervous, sleepless. There is also a tendency toward fat.

STOP!... killing yourself

By Peter J. Stelcerohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

HUSBAND NEGLIGES FAMILY IN HIS DRIVE FOR STATUS

Dear Dr. Stelcerohn: My husband makes me nervous. Your women readers won't believe it but my trouble is that I'm too rich. We have three cars. I suppose you won't think that's unusual — but it happens the "third" car is a Cadillac, which my husband considers his toy car, the other two are Buicks. He is only 42. We have two boys who really love him. He is out practically every night attending meetings and figuring ways to become richer. Affection? I have forgotten the meaning of the word.

I am trying to figure out my reason for writing. I know you can't possibly help me. However, I think perhaps this letter, if published, will bring cheer and comfort to women whose fine husbands work hard to make payments on the car and do their best to keep them happy and to be a regular father to their children. They don't know how lucky they are. If they are taking tranquili- zers, at least the reason is that they have "lost" husbands." Mrs. XXX, the third (You see, even my signature has to have status).

Comment: The need for status and riches and power overweighs many persons. They lose all else while scrambling to what they consider the top. Wife, children, friends are often discarded on the way up.

I suppose it was the same with some monkeys who wanted all the coconuts with some squirrel who weren't happy unless they stored up more of the nuts so other squirrels could look on in awe, with some kids who are never happy until they have won all the marbles.

I am sorry for you, Dr. XXX the third, but I am not for your husband.

EXERCISE IS BOSH!

Almost 25 years ago when I finished my book on exercise I wrote that call it "Exercise Is Bosh" or "Best Begins at 40" — but my publishers prevailed upon me to call it "If You Don't Have to Exercise" If I had it to do all over again I would simply insist on my own life. For the intervening years have convinced me that the "exercise bug" is still rampant in these United States.

For example, consider recent news in the daily papers. I've been reading about a mid-level marine officer who hiked 90 miles to prove that modern marines are as tough as they were in Teddy Roosevelt's day. He said that if we expected young marines to do it, at least the officers should show that they were made of sterner stuff. Too! I suppose you'd have to go along with that kind of reasoning, although I still couldn't see why middle-aged officers have to prove themselves in this manner. But I draw the line when I read succeeding headlines on how this fitness program is spreading into the higher echelon of government.

For instance, I've just learned that Bobby Kennedy recently completed a 90 mile hike in 17 hours — four of his assistants dropped out before the hike was completed. Was he trying to prove to them any need that our cabinet

Little Britain

Reeve Roy Morrison spent a few days in Lindsay where he was in attendance at the March sessions of Victoria County Council.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jenkins motored to Courville near Oshawa to spend their day recently with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sweetman.

Members be fit from the Apple's demand? All they need is cerebral fitness to run the country well.

Like an epidemic, this fitness disease is invading all segments of our society besides the military. Our commanders-in-chief sit in his rocker and innocently spreads the infection and contagion. He believes in physical fitness, but unfortunately can't take active part because of a bad back. (He doesn't know how fortunate he is.)

I haven't been reading a book with any physical antics by the younger Senator Teddy Kennedy. Like him, He makes good sense. I wonder if he believes that exercise is "bosh" for people over 40. (Released by the net Syndicate Inc.)

OLIVE AND ORANGE COULD BE REMOVING DIET OF TOMORROW

Dear Dr. Steiner: I have a friend who's going overboard on a silly diet to lose weight. So far she hasn't lost an ounce because the truth is she hasn't will power to stay away from the extra calories. My husband and I have a running game in our house to try to predict that the next day diet to every the country will be. My husband says the next will probably be a banana diet. What's your guess?

Dr. T. Comment: Of course, my return, but all your husband there was some kind of silly banana diet years ago. Bananas are good food, but not as the basis of causing weight loss.

What's my guess? Thanks for inviting me into your game. If you have read the column on the silly "Flit" have blamed themselves for neglect in preventing their "end all diet" you may know who I accept your invitation with enthusiasm.

SUDDEN, UNEXPECTED DEATHS IN INFANTS

One thing is so tragic as the sudden, unexpected death of a baby in his crib. Many mothers through the centuries have blamed themselves for neglect in preventing their infants from "smothering to death." But recent studies have shown that in the great majority of such cases the cause of death was a virus which attacked the lungs causing inflammation we call "infectious pneumonia."

Dr. Clara Rayne, Wayne County deputy medical examiner of Detroit has been studying this problem. In a recent paper she said that a "viral etiology" is the suspect in an intensive study of 560 sudden and unexpected deaths in babies under six months of age.

At least we are now on the cause. Some time in the future scientists will find a prevention or a cure. Meanwhile, any mother who comes through such an unfortunate experience (which the sudden, unexpected death of a baby is not so common that it is a threat to all babies) need not go through life blaming themselves for the death of their infant because of neglect.

At least there's some to be as much relief from chest pain as formerly when they take their nitroglycerine tablets in small quantities. Two, better see your doctor for a checkup if the attacks of angina have been increasing in number and not responding to nitroglycerine. ## Film 'Night Children'

shown at UCW meet

The March meeting of Queen Street United Church Women was held recently with one unit serving dessert and coffee before the meeting.

Mrs. Harold Robertson, president of the Christian Citizenship and Social Action was in charge of Devotions. A hymn was sung followed by the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Ernie Kinas and after the collection was received and dedicated, a hymn was sung to close the Devotions. During the service Miss Barbara McGehee sang a very lovely solo accompanied by Mr. Barry Lloyd at the piano. A film "Night Children" was shown depicting some of the work of the Children's A.S. Society.

Mrs. Lloyd Thurston took over for the business part of the meeting and welcomed everyone present. Roll Call was by unit. The minutes of the February meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Roger Black. A detailed treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Lloyd Found. All the different committees reported, much business was discussed arising from these reports.

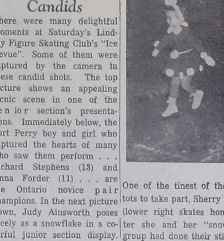

Mrs. Rex Finley reported on the Literature available and Mrs. Frank Codina read the correspondence and reported on the progress of their Foster Child Plan. Some future meetings and social functions to be held.

Mrs. Lloyd Thurston closed the meeting with prayer.
